

Tiger's weekly newsletter

10.10.19

This week we have been thinking about autumn. We had a super, splashy, squelchy wellie walk on Tuesday and for once, the weather was kind to us. The children had a great time and spotted many signs of autumn. Thank you to those parents who went on walks with their children and found lots of autumn treasures we have enjoyed sharing them. The challenges this week helped to develop the children's skills in cutting, letter formation, colour mixing and ordering numbers.

Next week we will be continuing to learn about autumn, we will be reading stories about Percy the Park Keeper. Why don't you visit a local park at the weekend and talk about the signs of autumn.

Thank you to those parents who attended the reading meeting this week. We hope you found it useful. Please do not hesitate to ask if you have any further questions about helping your child with reading at home.

We still need recyclable resources for making models – please save and send in cardboard boxes, clean bottle tops and lids, cardboard tubes and anything else you think we could use.
