Tiger's weekly newsletter

17.10.19

This week we read 'After The Storm' by Mick Inkpen, we learnt about Percy the Park Keeper and all his animal friends. We have been finding out about woodland animals and hibernation. The children have been very creative this week they have painted pictures of Percy's animal friends using thick and thin paintbrushes, they have been drawing fruit and vegetables and making collage pictures of owls. In maths, they have been combining two numbers and looking at simple addition sentences. In the writing area, they have been practising their letter formation and writing the sounds they can hear in words. The challenges this week helped to develop the children's skills in cutting, letter formation, colour mixing and adding single digit numbers.

Next week we will be preparing for Halloween, the children are already talking about their costumes and have been making skeletons and spiders to decorate the home corner.

We love to hear about the children's weekend adventures you can email us with details and pictures to help your child share their news with the class.
