

Tiger's weekly newsletter

23.1.20

This week we have been reading 'Welcome to Alien School'. The children really enjoyed the story particularly the alien words. We decided not to use any of them in our sentence writing as they were very long and much too tricky to spell. In maths the children have been practising addition, they even used some teen numbers in their addition sentences. In the creative area they have been busy printing, drawing and constructing their own aliens. They have created some wonderfully weird looking aliens.

Next week we are hoping to make more 3D aliens but our supply of boxes is running low so if you have any small or medium size boxes please send them into school for the children to transform.

We are always encouraging the children to help us keep school tidy but this is proving very difficult in our small cloakroom. One of the problems is children who have backpacks on their pegs. To solve this problem we would appreciate it if all children could have a drawstring PE bag and not a backpack - thank you.

We are also in need of some really big cardboard boxes (ones that children can fit inside). If you can get any from work – please send them in to school ASAP.
